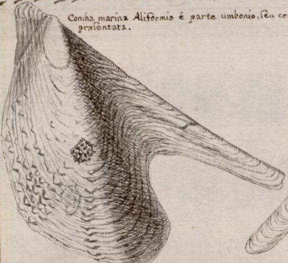
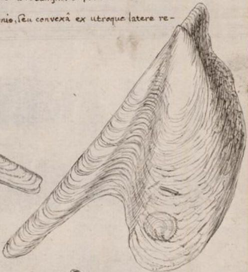
Conchæ marinæ Aliformes. Die Meer-Flügel, oder Flügel-förmige Meer-Müſchlen.

Sunt Conchæ marinæ æquivalves, inæquilateræ tenuiſſimæ teſtæ cardine oblongo, et recto in utraque extremitate in acumen deſinente, in breviore acutum, in longiore verò nonnihil obtuſum, et quaſi in recta linea præciſum: propè cardinem ſunt tantillum umbonatæ umbone in roſtrum acutum reſpectu cardinis obliquè ſitum, abeunte; ſtatim ubi ligamentum nigrum incipit, umbo deinde paulatim dilatatur in teſtam tenuiſſimam Alæ alicuius expanſæ haud abſimilem: plerumque ſunt luridi, et tophacei coloris plurimis tubulis vermicularibus quandoque obſitæ, vel coloris nigricantis, roſtro umbonis tamen argenteo remanente. in interna facie ſpatium illud, quod piſcis occupare ſolet, colore argenteo ſplendente eſt obductum, reliquo circumvicino fuſco remanente, ac inſtar talci Moſcovitici tenuiſſimo et ſplendente. Concha marina Aliformis maior luridi, ſeu tophacei coloris ex uno latere multis tubulis vermicularibus maioribus et minoribus obſita. Concha tenuis teſtæ. Bon. 57. Avicula. Rumph. t. 46. l. G.

Concha marina Aliformis è parte umbonis, ſeu convexâ ex utroque latere repræſentata.





Eadem è parte concavâ ex utroque latere repræſentata.