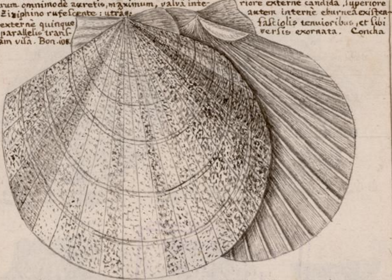
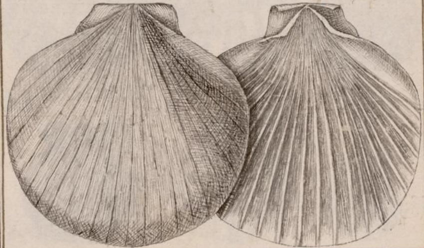
Pectinoidæa marina Meer-Sonnen-Uhren, oder Sonnen-Zeit.

Sunt Conchæ marinæ præcedentibus Pectinibus quaſi ſimiles, exceptis potiſſimùm ſtriis, quæ in his I°. ſunt tenuiores, et copioſiores, ac omnes ſibi invicem æquales. II°. quod à cardine ad oram in æquali à ſe diſtantiâ directæ ſint, ac ſi per amuſſium quoddam ſtudio impreſſæ eſſent. et III°. quod in interna valvarum ſuperficie eminentes exiſtant, externè verò canaliculatæ, ſeu tantillùm concavæ ſint, quòd valdè raró obſervatur in teſtaceis, et ego quidem in unica Cochleâ caſſidiformi marina albâ vidi.

Pectinoides marinum ſtriatum, tenue, æquiauritum auribus triquetris, et ex uno latere valvis concharum omnimodè æretis, maximum, valvâ inferiore externè candida, ſuperiore verò è Ziziphino rufeſcente: utraq: autem internè eburneâ exiſtente, ac externè quinque faſciolis tenuioribus, et ſibi quaſi parallelis tranſverſis exornata. Concha nunquam viſa. Bon. 106.





Idem, ſed tantillùm minus, et ſine faſciis tranſverſis. Amuſſium. Rumph. t. 45. l. A. et B. quælibet valva ex utraque facie repræſentata eſt.
