

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page, is visible at the top. The text is faint and difficult to decipher but appears to be organized into several lines.